No Enlargement Of War in Asia Seen in Offing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept tight security wraps today on what—if any—new moves he is planning to make to step up the fight against Communist forces in Southeast Asia.

A White House statement issued Wednesday night gave some indication, however, that Johnson and his advisers have decided to soft-pedal talk of drastic action such as enlarging the war in Viet Nam, at least for the time being.

Johnson received a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the results of two days of intensive policy review which they conducted at a conference in Hawaii earlier this week.

Several days ago officials had indicated that the conference would very likely result in presidential decisions to deal with what then appeared to be a serious crisis in Southeast Asia due to Communist advances primarily in Laos.

When Wednesday night's meeting ended, George Reedy, presidential press secretary, issued this statement:

"The secretaries met with the President about an hour. They reviewed the situation in Southeast Asia in light of the consultations in Hawaii which were held to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of our program."

There was no hint of enlarging the war to include military action against Communist North Viet Nam or of putting U.S. military forces into Thailand or assigning reinforcements to the Southeast Asian area generally.

Reedy declined to answer any questions, explaining to reporters, "This is all I have to say about it."

The emphasis in the statement on improving "the efficiency and effectiveness" of going programs contrasted sharply with a speech made here two weeks ago by Rusk in which he warned that if the Communists persisted in aggression in South Viet Nam the war against them might be expanded.

This strengthened speculation in official quarters that carrying the fight to North Viet Nam, perhaps by aerial bombings, was under consideration. But informants said the administration was reluctant to expand the war unless it proved absolutely necessary.

In Tokyo, Communist Prince Souphanouvong insisted again today that he will agree to peace talks only if Premier Souvanna Phouma throws out leaders of the rightist coup of April 19 and restores the Communist Pathet Lao to its former role in the Laotian coalition government.

The New China News Agency said the Pathet Lao leader listed these conditions for talks with the neutralist premier: Repeal of the order assigning other officials to cabinet posts formerly held by Pathet Lao ministers and dissident neutralist ministers.

Dissolution of the revolutionary committee which staged the rightwing military coup April 19.

Severe punishment of the coup leaders.

Restoration of the situation to the status quo before the coup.

Souvanna agreed Wednesday to Souphanouvong's request that he arrange for the departure of the last two remaining Pathet Lao government officials and their 100-man bodyguard from Vientiane.

Souvanna notified Souphanouvong, who is his half-brother, that he would ask the International Control Commission to arrange to fly the Pathet Lao party to Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, "in the shortest possible time."

Gen. Kong Le, commander of Souvanna's neutralist army, conferred in Vientiane today with the chief of staff of the rightwing army, Gen. Ouane Rattikone.

The discussions were understood to concern suggestions the two Communist council members made Wednesday for changes in the resolution.

Authorities at Long Island Jewish Hospital, Queens, said the boy and one of the girls had respiratory troubles and the other two "died quite suddenly." No cause was given.

Cop Labels Girl, Age 4, Good Driver

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Patrolman Charles Henderson thought the police dispatcher was pulling his leg Wednesday night when told to investigate a 4-year-old girl driving a station wagon on the near East Side.

Henderson replied, "Are you sure she is 4," and the dispatcher answered "yes."

Flores Scales, Evansville juvenile officer, heard the same report and decided, "This I have to see."

Arriving on the scene, the two officers watched as the blonde tot about three feet tall completed a turn at an intersection and stopped in front of a house.

"She did a good job," Scales said. "I've never seen anything like it before."

The child was accompanied by her father and several other persons. All were laughing. The father told Scales his daughter drives all the time on the farm.

The officers didn't take any names or issue a summons, but Scales warned the father to limit the girl's driving to the farm.

"She can't do it on city streets," he said.

Soviet Paper Hints Split With Peking

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda indicated today that the Kremlin may be thinking of formally severing ties between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and China.

"The threat of a split is a reality which the world Communist movement must reckon with," said an article in the party newspaper.

"Marxist-Leninists do not want a split, but unity cannot be attained through concessions on matters of principle, nor does it come by itself."

It was one of the strongest Soviet statements yet on the Moscow-Peking feud. But Western diplomats in Moscow do not believe a break in party relations would mean a break in relations between the Soviet and Chinese governments. The diplomats believe the Soviets want to keep some lines of communication open.

The article said a split between the Soviet and Chinese parties would "seriously weaken the struggle of the world Communist movement against imperialism."

The article urged convocation of a world Communist meeting and said the "majority of the Communist parties in all regions of the world is going on record for its early convocation."

Funeral Directors Planning Own Purge
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio funeral directors have taken a step to rid their ranks of any "unscrupulous" members.

The state convention of the Ohio Funeral Directors Association Wednesday adopted a resolution setting up a continuing committee to hear complaints "on unscrupulous, unethical and unprofessional practices."

Jerry Spears Jr., a member of the committee drafting the resolution, said it means that "if we have laundry to clean, we are going to clean it ourselves."

Korea Student Protests Eyed

Martial Law Hinted for Nation

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Students staged antigovernment demonstrations in four Korean provincial cities today and President Chung Hee Park's Cabinet threatened to place the entire country under martial law.

More than 6,000 students overran police lines in a rock-throwing riot in Kwangju, 150 miles south of Seoul. Police tried to scatter the students with tear gas, but they squatted in front of the provincial government building and shouted for Park's resignation and the lifting of martial law in Seoul.

Many students and policemen were reported injured.

Less violent demonstrations broke out in Incheon, Pusan and Chunchon. More than 2,000 high school and college students were involved.

Heavy troop reinforcements kept Seoul quiet, enforcing martial law proclaimed by Park in the capital after 30,000 students and adults rioted Wednesday. More than 600 police and demonstrators were injured and 91 persons were arrested.

After an emergency Cabinet meeting today, a Cabinet spokesman said martial law would be extended to the rest of the country if the demonstrations continued.

Dust-covered trucks moved troops into the capital during the night. Troops with fixed bayonets patrolled major streets.

Gen. Min Ki-shik, chief of staff of South Korea's 600,000-man army, took personal command of the city under the military decree.

The outburst in Seoul Wednesday was by far the most serious challenge to Park's regime.

At first, the students demanded cancellation of talks with Korea's ancient enemy, Japan, aimed at restoring diplomatic and commercial relations. But in the past month the protests have broadened to complaints of police rule, dictatorship, official corruption, inflation and unemployment.

Bridegroom Says 'No' at Altar

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — David Swindells, 27, said "No" he wouldn't take Diane Garden to his wedding and walked out of the Congregational Church Wednesday.

Blonde Diane burst into tears. The minister shepherded the weeping bride and her father into the vestry and then ran after the bridegroom.

After a while the minister came back and told the guests: "There will be no wedding today."

"I don't want to talk about it," said David at his home later.

Diane's parents took her home.

"We don't want to talk about it," said a relative.

Civil Rights Bill Showdown Due Tuesday

Senate Leaders See No Influence In California Poll

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders bent on passing the civil rights bill brushed aside today suggestions their chances of cutting off the debate had been hurt by the California primary or a tactical maneuver of Southern opponents.

At the same time Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, removed himself from the ranks of the uncommitted and announced he will vote next Tuesday—the day set for a showdown—to put the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule into effect.

A two-thirds majority will be required, or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote, to halt a Southern filibuster against the bill by during a tight limit on further debate, now in its 70th day.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said they have no intention of being deflected from the course set earlier in the week to wind up the debate and pass the bill.

They discounted reports that the refusal of Senate leaders to accept an offer from the Dixie contingent to vote on several amendments this week had hurt their chances of mustering the necessary margin for closure.

Humphrey and Dirksen also said the victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in California's presidential primary, would have no effect on the drive to limit debate despite Goldwater's stand against invoking closure.

Referring to Goldwater's defeat of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Humphrey said the vote in California "hurt Rockefeller, not closure."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators battling the civil rights bill, said he thought Goldwater's victory might cause some senators to change their minds and "vote against gag rule."

The offer of the Southern forces after a caucus two days ago to start voting on amendments marked a switch in strategy in an apparent effort to head off a limitation on debate.

2 Veteran Miners Die In Utah Pit

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP) — Two veteran miners died Wednesday in a rock cave-in deep inside a central Utah coal mine.

A third escaped unhurt, but four rescuers suffered minor injuries in a second rockfall as they tried to remove the two victim's bodies.

"I was smacked by some rock and coal," said Paul Pero, 55, of Price, Utah, who survived the cave-in. "I heard Marzo say: 'Let's get the hell out of here.'"

Morris Marzo, 47, also of Price, and Leland Huntsman, 49, of Castle Dale, Utah, were identified by company officials as victims.

Pero said he and the other two miners had just begun their shift when the cave-in hit. "I started crawling away," he said. "I looked back. I couldn't see anything, but dust and debris. I just kept crawling away."

Rescuers worked six hours—much of the time by hand—removing rocks and debris that fell on the bodies in the 1,500-foot deep mine shaft.

15 Get Diplomas Via Telephone

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Seniors in the Choctawhatchee High School marching band will receive their diplomas almost 1,000 miles away from their graduation exercise — but won't miss a word of the commencement.

The 15 graduating band members are putting in a week-long stay at the Florida Pavilion of the New York World's Fair. They were concerned about missing the commencement Friday night.

A long-distance telephone line in the pavilion easily solved the problem. Band Director James Leonard will hand out the diplomas in New York when Principal H. A. Bruner reads off the pupils' names along with the rest of the class.

Barry Is Rated Very Near Goal

LBJ To Relish Goldwater Duel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's Republican presidential primary seems to have pleased at least one Democrat — President Johnson.

The chief executive hasn't reacted directly to Goldwater's narrow win over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. However, a couple of straws in the wind, as it were, seemed to point up the response in the administration camp.

1. Johnson aides, who normally mirror the President's attitudes, declined today to reject suggestions that Goldwater's triumph was pleasing to them. Quite the contrary, they beamed.

2. The President himself took another indirect swipe at Goldwater—something he obviously delights in doing—in a speech Wednesday at New London, Conn. Many observers saw this as further evidence that Johnson would relish an autumn encounter with the Arizona senator.

Before he was assassinated, President John F. Kennedy left little doubt that he wanted Goldwater as his 1964 opponent. He obviously felt he could fare best campaigning against someone who could be counted on to offer voters a sharp alternative to Kennedy policies.

Johnson lieutenants, in private conversations, seemed to leave little or no doubt that the new President, too, would delight in campaigning against Goldwater.

And perhaps the most convincing evidence of this can be found in Johnson's own public remarks.

During the past six months, Johnson has said little or nothing that has been critical, even directly, of such potential Republican opponents as Rockefeller, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Henry Cabot Lodge or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In fact, the President has heaped praise on Lodge, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Two Republicans have been placed by Johnson in a somewhat different category. They are Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president, and Goldwater.

In itself, this suggests that Johnson considers Goldwater and Nixon the most promising targets.

In New London Wednesday, Johnson said the United States (Continued on Page 3)

Few Dull Moments Seen If Barry Jousts Johnson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the presidential race matches Sen. Barry Goldwater against President Johnson the November election campaign will have few dull moments.

There is some difference of opinion over whether Goldwater's defeat of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in Tuesday's California primary carried the senator over his last big hurdle toward the Republican presidential nomination.

But if Goldwater is nominated at the mid-July convention here, the fireworks probably will start exploding even before the August Democratic convention goes through the formality of nominating the President.

Goldwater, the conservative, would strive to offer "a choice, not an echo," to Johnson's professed liberalism.

The senator described himself to California audiences as "the only Republican who has the ghost of a chance of beating Lyndon Johnson."

In his California campaign, the senator laid out the pattern of the attack he could be expected to make on Johnson in a general election contest.

Among other things, Goldwater said the administration's foreign policies offered a "path to suicide," that the country faced "another Korea" in South Viet Nam and might lose all of Southeast Asia to the Communists.

"We are following the same path of appeasement that we followed in the 1930s," he said.

The Democrats have been making a book on Goldwater's utterances for several years. Any quotations they might have missed probably were dug up by Rockefeller's researchers and injected into the governor's attack on the senator.

Democratic speakers have only to quote Rockefeller's assertion that Goldwater's call for an end to foreign aid, his opposition to arms control measures and his proposal to quit the United Nations if Red China were admitted add up to a "blueprint for defeat and disaster."

Then there was the matter of civil rights, where Johnson is committed to all-out support of the bill before the Senate and Goldwater is opposed to some of its provisions.

"There's a long time between now and the convention in San Francisco and it's hard to tell what is going to happen," he said.

At a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller discussed his loss of 86 delegates to Goldwater in Tuesday's California primary and looked ahead to the Republican National Convention opening July 13.

He said at the news conference that he thinks every Republican would support Goldwater if he ran on a "forward-looking" platform.

Rockefeller said he hopes public opinion will bring Goldwater into "the mainstream of American thinking," and added: "The senator said Wednesday night he was in the mainstream of American thought, and all I can say is that we've got a meandering stream. There are hazards in that river."

Rockefeller said he believes the Republican platform should be drafted first, and a candidate then selected to run on it.

First-Ballot Win Possible

Voting This Week May End GOP Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final phase of the race for the Republican presidential nomination gets under way Friday amid indications that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is only a whisker away from a first-ballot victory.

Washington state Republicans open their convention and delegates to the GOP National Convention will be chosen in two Colorado districts Friday.

By Saturday night some 65 delegates will be chosen in Washington, Colorado, Alabama and Hawaii, and political observers will be better able to gauge the impact of Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California primary.

That victory gave him 86 delegates from the Golden State, boosting his first ballot strength in The Associated Press survey of delegates already chosen to 446. That contrasted with a claim of 454 by Goldwater's headquarters.

A spot check Wednesday of political leaders in most of the 15 states and Puerto Rico, where a total of 258 delegates remain to be chosen, showed Goldwater is expected to win between 140 and 190. And another 25 or so of these unchosen delegates could wind up in the senator's corner before the GOP convention opens July 13 in San Francisco.

If he fulfills these estimates, Goldwater would march into the convention with from 625 to 650 first-ballot votes, just shy of the 655 needed for the nomination.

Goldwater backers who are predicting a first-ballot nomination are looking closely at the big bloc of nominally uncommitted or favorite-son votes, including 58 in Ohio, 48 in Michigan, 31 in New Jersey and 30 in Wisconsin.

They feel there is Goldwater support in those delegations which can be called on either during or at the end of the first roll call.

The AP survey of 1,050 delegates already chosen shows this first-ballot lineup based on pledges, primary commitments, instructions and stated preferences:

Goldwater	446
Nelson A. Rockefeller	117
William W. Scranton	72
Henry Cabot Lodge	44
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	103
Uncommitted	240

Rocky Sees Early Win For Barry

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says present indications are that Sen. Barry Goldwater will win the Republican presidential nomination on the first or second ballot at the national convention—but "I'm staying right in this to the end."

"There's a long time between now and the convention in San Francisco and it's hard to tell what is going to happen," he said.

At a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller discussed his loss of 86 delegates to Goldwater in Tuesday's California primary and looked ahead to the Republican National Convention opening July 13.

Rockefeller said he hopes public opinion will bring Goldwater into "the mainstream of American thinking," and added: "The senator said Wednesday night he was in the mainstream of American thought, and all I can say is that we've got a meandering stream. There are hazards in that river."

Ambassador Shot by Aide
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Ethiopian ambassador to Sweden was shot and seriously wounded today by his Polish chauffeur, the Stockholm Criminal Police reported.

The police said Ambassador Abate Agede was hit by three revolver bullets. The shooting occurred on the embassy grounds.

A police spokesman said the chauffeur, whose name was withheld, had received orders from the ambassador which he refused to obey. During the argument, the Pole suddenly drew his revolver and fired three shots, the spokesman said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A complaint filed by the Butler County Bar Association seeking disciplinary action against Midletown attorney H. O. Finkelman has been dismissed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

The judges ruled unanimously Wednesday that evidence in the complaint was insufficient.

The association had charged that Finkelman offered to serve the city of Franklin without pay in a zoning matter, prompted by ill feeling toward the city solicitor. It also asserted that Finkelman obtained newspaper publicity and indirect advertising for clients affected by Franklin's zoning ordinances "to be used in a possible future referendum and court actions."

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lt. Howard A. Watson of the Ohio Highway Patrol—assigned to a security detail for the National Governor's Conference here—died of a heart attack Wednesday night in the Auditorium Hotel.

Scout Leaders Finalize Plans For Bunyan Show

The Pickaway District Boy Scout Roundtable was held yesterday evening at Cross Mound Park near Tarlton.

Officials of Boy Scout Troop 484 of Tarlton hosted the meeting.

Final plans were discussed for the Paul Bunyan Exposition which will be held in Columbus June 12, 13 and 14 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Jim Farinet, a central council scout executive, told Pickaway officials that Saturday had been designated as "Bunton Day".

He explained that all scouts should make an intensive effort to sell tickets to the Paul Bunyan exposition on this day.

Farinet pointed out the exposition is a "participation event," with several local scout troops and cub packs scheduled to have exhibits there.

Homemade ice cream, cookies and strawberries were served by a committee headed by Nelson Jones, Robert Turvey and John Hartley.

Research Plane Studies Storm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau ordered its research plane to investigate a tropical depression 600 miles southwest of Miami today for possible intensification into a tropical storm or hurricane.

The Weather Bureau said Wednesday the tropical depression was not likely to develop into a storm until noon today, if at all.

The disturbance, with winds up to 25 miles an hour, was moving toward the northeast at three miles an hour. It was last located off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The 1964 hurricane season officially started Monday.

Mrs. Neva Geiser County's Second Auto Crash Fatality

Pickaway County's second traffic victim of 1964 has been identified as Mrs. Neva Geiser, 72, of Columbus by the Ohio State Highway Patrol.

Mrs. Geiser was killed in an accident north of Route 762 on Route 23 yesterday shortly before noon.

Driver of the car in which the victim was a passenger was Mrs. Florence Kain, 55, also of Columbus. Mrs. Kain was admitted to Mercy Hospital where she was treated for cuts and bruises.

Driver of the slow moving road roller, which Mrs. Kain's car struck in the rear, was Robert L. Roese, 34, of Ashville. He was not injured.

ROESE was moving the roller from a highway maintenance job at Route 762 to a roadside rest area about two miles north, according to patrol officials.

He was in the extreme right hand lane traveling at an estimated speed of six miles per hour when the Kain car struck the left rear corner of the roller.

Highway officials said the roller was equipped with flashing red lights which were in operation at the time.

Ohio Inmate Drives Off in Rented Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An inmate serving a life term for murder drove away from the Ohio State Penitentiary in a rented car today.

Warden Ernie Maxwell said Edwin Frederick Smith, 45-year-old prison parking lot attendant who gained honor status last August, took a 1963 white Chevrolet owned by Hertz Rent-A-Car Co.

The warden described Smith as an ideal prisoner and said his arrest in Hamilton County on the murder charge in 1957 was his only previous offense. Smith was committed June 20, 1957, after his conviction of first-degree murder in the shooting of his wife.

The car he used to escape bore the Ohio license number J-3582. Smith weighs 145 pounds, stands 5-foot-10, has a medium build and brown hair flecked with gray, Maxwell said.

Stock Mart Prices Slide

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices early this afternoon slid lazily below the "floor" of a trading range which has supported them for nearly three months.

Trading was only a bit more lively than Wednesday's slow pace, the most sluggish of 1964. Most losses of key stocks were fractional and a good many were unchanged. Here and there, however, a pivotal issue felt a point or more, dragging down the averages.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 2.88 to 808.91. This violated the April 30 intermediate low of 810.77 from which the list rallied.

Motors, steels, airlines, electrical equipments, retailers, oils and rails were among the losing groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 303.6 with industrials down .5, rails down .6 and utilities up .2.

There were 228 cases filed in the court during May. The docket was cleared of 239 criminal cases.

The court report listed 19 new civil cases filed. Disposition was made on five.

Costs due the city from civil cases totaled $100.80.

That phrase had been used by Nixon a week earlier.

LBJ Relishes ...

"The response must suit the threat. Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons, display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race."

Goldwater had recently discussed the possible use of low yield nuclear weapons to strip the leaves from jungle trees in Viet Nam so Communist guerrillas could be exposed from the air.

And Johnson's statement was reminiscent of those he has made on half a dozen public occasions when he has jibed at Goldwater's suggestion that the United States should have sent Marines to Cuba when water for the Guantanamo Naval Base was cut off.

On several occasions, the President has suggested that Goldwater's proposed response to the water cutoff was most unsuitable to the threat. Johnson has said he found it much wiser to send one admiral to shut the water off by cutting the pipeline than to send in Marines to turn the water on.

A month ago, in Knoxville, Tenn., Johnson jabbed Goldwater on a different front. Talking about 1936 opponents of the Social Security program, the President said, "If those men had had their way, the 'for sale' sign would be on TVA this very hour."

Goldwater had once suggested a "for sale" sign for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In that same Knoxville speech, Johnson also took indirect issue with Nixon. Without mentioning names he scoffed at those who had labeled his anti-poverty program "a cruel hoax."

That phrase had been used by Nixon a week earlier.

City Dogs Act Like People

NEW YORK (AP)—The more I see of big city dogs the more I admire country dogs. The trouble with big city dogs is that they act more like people than they do like dogs. They acquire all the vices of human nature while abandoning most of the virtues of their canine nature. If you were to be granted a second term on earth, you could hardly have it easier than to be reborn a dog in New York City. Here, dogs have their day 365 days of the year. There are several hundred thousand dogs here, and a more pampered lot of creatures you could hardly find elsewhere on earth, except perhaps among the worshipful white elephants of Siam. Half the dogs in Manhattan probably live a richer, fuller, more carefree life than do half the people. The average dog here certainly has a more nutritious diet than the average person. It gets more exercise and more sleep. If it falls sick, a dog can get into a dog hospital with far less red tape than it takes for a person to be admitted into a people's hospital. Small wonder, then, that big city dogs are often spoiled, selfish, and impossibly smug. Caring to them has become a profitable industry. It costs more to get a dog a hair cut than a man. You'd be surprised how many dogs here have mink jackets to protect them from the cold. Once I was in a large jewelry store with a friend who was buying a gift for his wife. The salesman showed a beautiful, gem-studded gold necklace priced at $1,750. "Who can afford these?" my friend asked. "You'd be surprised," replied the salesman. "I sold one last week to a customer who bought it to surprise her dog on its birthday."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Figures don't lie. But it's how you interpret them that reveals whether you're an optimist, a pessimist, or just cautious. And in an election year the difference becomes sharper. If you're an optimist you can say that from Jan. 1 to May 31 U.S. gold stocks rose by $97 million. If you're a pessimist you can do a little figuring on your fingers and say that means that in May the United States must have lost $35 million in gold, because at the end of April the gold stock had been $132 million ahead. If you're cautious you can say that it's the long run and not the month to month changes that count. And anyway, even if May was disappointing, any gold gain is a relief after the loss of more than $7 billion the

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PAT O'BRIEN tells of an old ham actor who was happy to secure a bit part in a new Broadway play, laid in an East Side saloon. He was to portray a customer in act one, and again in act three. On the opening night, the director grabbed him when he made his exit in the first act and roared, "You dummy! You left your hat on the bar and the whole audience noticed it." The contrite actor made sure to retrieve the hat when he appeared in act three. When he placed it on his head, the audience surprised him by bursting into laughter and applause. "What did I do now?" asked the actor when he escaped to the wings. "Idiot!" bellowed the director. "This last scene is supposed to be fifteen years later!"

Four ghosts were engaged in a hotly-contested bridge game when a fifth ghost opened the door to enter, losing a gust of wind that blew all the cards off the table. "Confound it, Archie," grumbled one of the card-playing ghosts. "Don't you know what a keyhole is for?"

The father of a teen-age daughter found her red-haired boyfriend with a coke in one hand and a huge slab of apple pie in the other. "I'm mighty glad to meet you, Clifton," declared the father. "I've noticed you in our budget for some time."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Analysis of the urine still remains one of the most revealing tests of the body, in health and disease. Performed simply and quickly, right in the doctor's office, urinalysis often provides valuable information about the chemical condition of the liver, the kidneys and the blood. The kidneys are the main components of the complex urinary system, responsible for the disposal of waste products. They also regulate the healthy chemical composition of the blood as it circulates through them. What does the doctor look for in a routine examination of the urine? Sugar. The presence of high sugar content may indicate diabetes. But it may also signify an overabundance of sugar in the diet. Albumin. In good health, the kidneys do not allow albumin to pass into the urine. Albumin is a kind of body protein which, when found in the urine, may indicate infection or impairment of the function of the kidneys. But it is only when albumin is consistently found in the kidneys that it has special significance in diagnosis. A single specimen that contains albumin, or even sugar, does not necessarily indicate disease. Specific gravity. This test indicates the kidneys' ability to conserve or eliminate body fluids. Acidity. The acid and alkaline content of the urine sometimes indicates infections or disease in far removed parts of the body. Diets and medications can also affect the acid or alkaline content of the urine. Bile salts. In certain diseases of the liver and the gall bladder, bile pigments filter into the urine and give valuable diagnostic information. Jaundice of the body quickly reflects itself by a characteristic color of the urine. Microscopic study of the urine may reveal blood, bacteria and pus cells. Protein accumulations called "casts" are occasionally found in the urine, indicating certain disfunctions of the kidneys. These tests are but a fragment of the many that can be performed to extract from the urine the telltale evidences of disease. The presence of hormones, traces of poisons such as arsenic and lead, and even narcotics, can be detected through laboratory examination of the urine. Urinalysis is a vital part of the complete medical examination.

There are few more gratifying moments than when your doctor gives you the comforting assurance that your heart, lungs, blood pressure, weight and general body condition are excellent for your age group. Health examinations at intervals decided by your physician are a wise investment in health and productivity.

Public Works

Some people believe in salvation by works. Other people believe in salvation by Public Works. There is a vital distinction here, for the practice of salvation by Public Works frequently excuses individuals from saving themselves by their own efforts. To say this in the era of the Welfare State is enough to get one branded as an extremist, of course. So let me hasten to add that some public works are more justified than others. Through my friend, Monroe Worthington, industrial editor of the Wheeling (W. Va.) News-Register, I've learned of one project that if it happens to be practicable, would do more to alleviate poverty in a number of states than anything now on Sargent Shriver's books. This is a project for creating a drain-off of Ohio River water into Lake Erie whenever flood conditions threaten. It could save millions of dollars in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and even along the lower Mississippi every Spring if it could be made a reality.

The reason why the project is judged feasible by some engineers is that normally the Ohio River, at the mouth of the tributary Beaver River, is 110 feet higher than the level of Lake Erie. Naturally, flood conditions create a much higher head of water in the Ohio system. The engineers' proposition is to create five spillway tunnels that would harmlessly discharge flood water into the Great Lakes at a rate of 27,646 cubic feet per second per tunnel. The total drain-off of 138,230 cubic feet per second for five tunnels would be sufficient to keep the Ohio River from overflowing its banks into the city of Wheeling by a sufficiently safe margin.

How would the spillway tunnels be dug without involving the U. S. economy in astronomical costs? Well, the U. S. has spent a lot of money on the Mangla Dam on the Indus River. The builders of the Mangla Dam used an American device named the "Mole" which drills through hard rock at remarkable speed, the largest bore being thirty-six feet, eight inches wide. A Mole can bore more than 150 feet in a twenty-four hour day — or ten miles per year per Mole. Two or three dozen Moles, set to work at various places between the mouth of the Beaver River in Pennsylvania and Lake Erie, would produce five spillway tunnels in reasonable time. The estimated cost would be a quarter of a million dollars per mile of tunnel. Lining would not be necessary in most places, for the leakage would not be significant.

WHERE YOU ALWAYS SAVE

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Sober Up, Honey!

DEAR ABBY: There is a very attractive bachelor living in my apartment building. I am single, too. We have become quite friendly of late, and have invited each other in for a drink, conversation and television. I drink nothing but ginger ale, but whenever he serves it to me I have had the feeling that it was spiked. When I accused him of this he became very indignant and swore he never did. I've watched him carefully but haven't been able to catch him at it, yet I continue to get that high, exhilarated feeling when we're drinking together. Could it be my imagination?

FEELING HIGH
DEAR FEELING: If he is not spiking your ginger ale, he is even more dangerous because he is intoxicating you with his company. Stay out of his apartment.

DEAR ABBY: I always believed that honesty was the best policy, but it cost me a friend. You see, my best friend bought a dress and asked me what I thought of it. I told her I thought it was too short, too tight, and the color was wrong for her. I told her in a very nice way, but she got mad and now she won't even speak to me. Should I have told her the dress was nice even if it wasn't? Please print this, Abby. I know a lot of people who have the same trouble.

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: When a woman asks a friend what she "thinks" of something after she has already bought it, she doesn't want an honest opinion—she wants a compliment. If your best friend quit speaking to you on this account, it couldn't have been much of a friendship.

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful 23-year-old daughter is engaged to a fine young man whom she has dated all through college. She is our only daughter and we have the means to give her a storybook wedding. The problem: The young man's mother is an invalid and seems to be fading fast. He wants to be married at a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside as her doctors say she cannot leave her bed or stand too much excitement. Do you think this is fair to our daughter? Deep down in her heart I know she must be terribly disappointed, but she loves him so much she readily agreed. I am heartsick, and so is our entire family. Why can't the couple have a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside and then be married again at a beautiful church wedding? Others have been married by a Justice of the Peace and then remarried in a church. If any of your readers have ever faced this problem, I'd appreciate knowing how they handled it.

MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter is showing more good judgment and compassion than you are. Your "storybook" wedding, following a bedside ceremony, would reduce the church ceremony to a performance.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With outdoor cooking becoming increasingly into season, beef rules as a top lure at supermarkets as housewives lay in weekend food supplies.

The red meat continued in plentiful supply across the nation. Prices were attractive in most sections, but were reported higher for rib and loin cuts by up to 3 cents a pound in the Los Angeles area.

Roasts were recommended widely.

As "Dairy Month" observance began, milk and milk products promotions were conspicuous.

Regionally, pink salmon from the West Coast, honeydew melons from Texas in the Southwest and truck garden vegetables in many sections were prime attractions.

Onions, carrots, lettuce, asparagus, green beans, celery, squash, cabbage and radishes were among produce counter favorites.

Fruit offerings were abundant and attractive, led by bananas, strawberries, avocados and lemons — plus cantaloup and watermelons in selected parts of the country.

Eggs were reported plentiful with prices little changed.

In the fish line, halibut, mackerel, lobster, red snapper and scallops were featured, in the East and Southeast especially, while whitefish and perch also were readily available in the Midwest.

As alternatives to beef, some stores were pushing broiler-fryers and turkeys, hailed as generally best poultry buys, and lamb and ham items.

Easy way to salt those home French-fried potatoes; shake them in a brown paper bag with some salt.

Miss Kiger presented devotionals and read an article entitled "Keeping Up To Date In Our Religion", followed by prayer.

The fellowship chairman reported cards have been sent to those who are ill.

Mrs. Loring Evans introduced Mrs. Cliff Hedges who entertained the class with recitations.

The next meeting will be a picnic in August at the Lancaster Campgrounds.

Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Evans were co-hostesses.

GOP Convention Delegates Run Better than Dems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican National Convention delegates elected statewide in the May 5 primary polled more votes than the Democratic slate, Ohio's official canvass reveals.

The GOP slate of 12 at-large delegates received 615,754 votes; the Democratic slate of 82 at-large delegates polled 493,619.

Republican at-large and district delegates carrying 58 convention votes are pledged to Gov. James A. Rhodes as "favorite son" candidate for president with Lt. Gov. John W. Brown as second choice.

Democratic at-large and district delegates carrying 99 votes are pledged to Cuyahoga county chairman Albert S. Porter as "favorite son" stand-in for president Lyndon B. Johnson. Second choice is former Carroll County Chairman Ermine Crokey.

Each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts elected two convention delegates in each party with a full vote apiece.

Republican at-large delegates also have a full vote each but some Democratic at-large delegates have only a half-vote.

As a result, the party delegations shape up like this: Republicans—46 district and 12 at-large delegates with a vote each for a total of 58.

Democrats — 46 district delegates with a vote each and 82 at-large, 24 of them with a full vote apiece and the other 58 with a half-vote each for a total of 99 votes.

Delegation votes are set by national committees of each party but the strength of state delegations remains relative despite the difference in size. State organizations decided how their total vote is divided.

Two Republican delegate candidates running pledged to Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith met defeat in the 19th District composed of Mahoning County and part of Trumbull County.

They were Jack C. Hunter who got 5,881 votes and Ernest J. Whittle Jr. with 4,586.

Winners were Elton W. Luckhart with 12,120 and James G. Eardley with 9,778.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the Republican presidential nomination and runs against President Johnson, voters will get a chance to make a choice that hasn't been given them in years.

It will be a choice between two distinct philosophies of government as represented by the candidates if not exactly by the parties:

The liberalism of Johnson and the conservatism preached by Goldwater, although some consider the conservative label far too liberal for Goldwater.

Even so, the difference between the two men would be so apparent that no one could miss it. Every four years Democrats and Republicans put on a song-and-dance — a so-called discussion of the issues — which is supposed to point out the difference between the two parties. In reality any difference is hardly visible.

The Democrats and Republicans these days are practically one and the same party and for the same reason. Both have their own batch of liberals and reactionaries but the majority in both are conservatives.

So for years in election after election voters have not really been choosing between parties so

Plane Crash Is Blamed On Assailant

WASHINGTON (AP)—An assailant aboard the airliner that crashed May 7 near San Francisco, killing all 44 aboard, apparently shot the pilot, officials ruled Wednesday.

The Civil Aeronautics Board and the FBI released a tape recording of the last radio transmission from the plane, a desperate cry:

"Skipper's shot! We've been shot! Trying to help!"

The voice was identified as that of Ray E. Andress. Beyond his "We've been shot," there was nothing to indicate whether he too had been wounded before the crash.

The CAB asked the assistance of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N.J., in analyzing the blurred conversation on the tape, the final communication between the plane and the Federal Aviation Agency control tower at San Francisco.

L. C. Kersta of Bell's acoustics and speech research laboratory said the studies and comparisons with earlier recordings of the crew voices indicated that the voice recorded was that of Andress, copilot of the Pacific Air Lines plane as it approached San Francisco on a flight from Reno, Nev.

Kersta said that this determination "seems relatively certain," because the voices of the pilot, Capt. Ernest A. Clark, and the copilot were quite different when studied under a spectrography.

A revolver found in the plane wreckage was traced to one of the dead passengers who had taken out a large amount of flight insurance.

The FBI and CAB said that Kersta translated the original tape to a digital tape for computer processing, and applied electronic filtering to eliminate high and low frequency noise bands.

'Cape Kennedy' Has No Postmark

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Many a stamp collector is learning that, while the missile center was renamed Cape Kennedy, the city still is Cape Canaveral.

Stamp collectors have deluged Postmaster Lyle Meadows and his four clerks with "first day covers." These are decorated envelopes, bearing the new John F. Kennedy stamp, which collectors send in to be mailed back with the postmark they want as a souvenir.

The collectors wanted a Cape Kennedy postmark on the new stamps honoring the late president, but such a postmark does not exist.

The City Council rejected a suggestion that the community's name be changed to conform with the cape's name change.

DeGaulle Shuns Normandy Rites

PARIS (AP) — Western Allies will celebrate Saturday the 20th anniversary of the most formidable military landing in history — under a little cloud of hard feelings.

The chief of state of the host country, the first to be liberated by the troops who swarmed over the Normandy beaches on D-Day, 1944, will not attend.

Nor will President Charles de Gaulle send his premier, Georges Pompidou, although both plan participation in celebrations of the south coast landings by French troops Aug. 15 and the liberation Aug. 25 of Paris.

French officials point out that no other heads of state will attend the Normandy observances, but many Frenchmen express belief that De Gaulle should make a more generous effort to express true French gratitude.

Speculation arose that his attitude may be his way of pointing out that neither Britain nor the United States considered him a chief of state until more than a month after the landing. Nor did they tell him the invasion was imminent until two days before it took place.

It is well-known that his treatment by Sir Winston Churchill and President Franklin D. Roosevelt has stuck in his craw ever since.

In effect, De Gaulle has never attended a D-Day anniversary, although three times he saluted the French Tricolor in ceremonies near the spot where he personally came ashore on D-Day plus eight. Those celebrations were in 1945, 1946 and 1952.

Churchill has not attended a D-Day observance, French officials point out, and the highest ranking American to do the honors was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Pompidou recently blamed the absence of top French participation on a press of other business, and said it had nothing to do with French solidarity, which "is total in the face of any eventual aggressor."

The French delegation this year will be led by Jean Sainteny, minister of veterans affairs; Raymond Triboulet, minister of cooperation and chairman of the arrangements; and Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of staff of the armed forces.

From the United States will come Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of the American D-Day troops and now President Johnson's representative; Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who parachuted behind the beachhead; and many other general officers and diplomats.

Britain, Canada, Belgium, Holland and Norway also will send delegations of high officers and diplomats. They will begin the ceremonies Friday in the Sword and Juno beachhead areas, moving on to Omaha Beach the next day.

Paul Reynaud, premier in 1940, in a radio interview last week, regretted lack of respect for "our Allies to whom, let's not forget, we owe our liberty."

Radio Tower Accident Blamed as Boy Dies

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A youth helping move a radio transmitter tower was killed in a 15-foot fall here Wednesday. Harry Phibbs, 17, of Dayton died almost instantly.

The tower was being taken down for removal from a vacant building owned by a lumber company to be put up elsewhere. Phibbs was guiding the bottom section when it raised up while he was holding on. He was accidentally lifted with the structure, lost his grip and plummeted onto an asphalt driveway.

New Job Training Plan Studied by Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering a proposal which proponents say would give American job training its biggest boost since the GI Bill.

The idea, proposed by the Federal Committee on Apprenticeship, is to treat job skills like capital investments and give employers tax credits for training new workers and upgrading the abilities of present employees.

"Cost to the employer is the greatest single bar to an adequate apprenticeship and training program in America," the committee said in making the recommendation to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

High Labor Department officials view the recommendation as an important proposal in their efforts to combat growing technological job displacement and persistently high unemployment.

The apprenticeship committee — made up of one government, five management and five labor members — carries considerable weight. Its recommendations have led to federal equal employment policies and other important programs in job training in the past.

The committee said employers should be encouraged to undertake more job training by granting them a tax write-off at least as great as the 7 per cent they now get for certain capital expenditures designed to spur business investment.

But, the committee indicated, an even higher tax credit would be justified because of the risk involved in training a man for a job and then losing him to a competitor.

The committee said the government has made no large scale contribution to on-the-job training since Congress passed the GI Bill after World War II to train and educate war veterans.

The committee's unanimous recommendation urge tax credits on the salary and other costs of instructors, bookkeeping costs, training material, cost of time spent in class by apprentices during paid working hours and a certain percentage of the salary of foremen who work with trainees.

Have you ever seen 7,000 grown men cry? You'd think success would make them happy, but ever since Mustang came out, seven thousand Ford Dealers all over the country have been weeping and wringing their hands. They can't get as many Mustangs as they would like. All this would upset us, too, except it's happened to us before. You see, this was the hottest sales year in Ford Division history even before Mustang came out. At the beginning of the model-year, dealers couldn't get enough of our big, hot Super Torque Ford Hardtops (sales up 54%)... or luxurious Thunderbirds (sales up 68%). Falcon sales are almost as big as Chevy II and Valiant combined. Fairlane continues to be a leader in its field. So, even though some people would like us to put all our plants to work on Mustang, we can't let down our hundreds of thousands of Ford, Thunderbird, Falcon and Fairlane lovers. Why don't you come see what all the shouting's about? Ask your Ford Dealer for a test drive. (You might even get him to smile.)

Garden Gossip

Don't forget the rose show at Whetstone Park June 7. Sponsored by Columbus Rose Society, it is an event of real interest — not just to rose growers but to gardeners in general.

The nice part of having the rose show at Whetstone Park is that you can include a tour of the rose garden while you are there.

Jim Reichelderfer's roses are a bright spot on E. Union St. Mrs. Louise Crawford who was telling me about them said, "The roses are just part of the family." Jim is a long time rose grower with a good sound knowledge of rose culture.

We knew exactly that Louise Crawford meant when she said the roses were a part of the family. This is true of the Mac Noggles and their roses.

Incidentally, in all the years I have visited the Noggle garden I have never seen the roses blooming with such abandon as this year. All colors, everywhere!

Frank Hawkes is a rather recent comer into the rose growing brotherhood. The Hawkes who live on E. Franklin St. have had a couple of old roses which were planted there about 40 years ago. They are the General Jac and Paul Neyron, the thornless rose. Mrs. Hawkes said they were just existing. But now that Frank is growing them, he started taking care of these old roses, too. And this year they made a magnificent splurge.

Frank Hawkes says his rose plants rooted under glass jars are doing fine. One plant, only a few weeks old, bloomed.

Across the street from the Hawkes is the Jim Moffitt garden. Just a glimpse and we knew that Hazel's roses were at their prime. Unless matters have changed, it is Hazel Moffitt who's the gardener in that family.

Mrs. Gladys Elsea, 601 N. Pickaway St., has rows of peonies, iris and daylilies across the back of her garden. She was out several days this last week in the garden directing operations while somebody spaded for her. It looked so pretty we almost stopped to take a picture, but thought better of the impulse because we could tell

Not Too Late For Container Planted Trees

When one thinks of hot weather, the comfort and peace of a lovely shade tree usually comes into mind.

One of the advantages of natural shade for air-conditioning is that, if your tree is planted in the right location, it will help to cool the indoors as well as the outdoors.

The shade tree should be located on the west side of the house at a sufficient distance to shade the west walls and roof as the sun descends in the west during the hottest months. In cooling the house walls, it also cools the indoors.

IN ORDER to enjoy cooler mornings in bedrooms on the east side of the house, plant a tree on the east, between the morning sun and the house. Morning temperatures in east bedrooms can be made comfortable and enjoyable in this way.

Another popular place for a shade tree is a location where the shade will keep a patio cool for outdoor enjoyment. Medium and large size trees can be located to provide shade where and when you want it in the hottest months.

Shade trees can be planted at any time of the year that a hole can be dug in the ground.

Container-planted shade trees and those with a ball of earth around the roots will thrive no matter when they are planted.

If the home owner wants immediate shade he should plant a fairly large tree.

If willing to wait for the shade tree to grow he can plant a smaller size.

Woman Excels Raising Dish Rag Gourds

Mrs. O. C. Ayres, 401 E. Walnut Street, Washington, Ind., started 45 years ago to raise dish rag gourds from seed.

Couriously enough she has never had to purchase new seeds. Each year she saves fresh seed. And the vigor of the stock has never diminished. So if Mrs. Ayres is not known as the "Dish Rag Lady" she deserves the title nonetheless.

Dish rag gourds are also called Loffa. And the fruit is like a big long cucumber.

In the fall the gourds turn a whitish color and Mrs. Ayres knows that harvest time has come. She picks them and stands them on end in a bushel basket. She says she is careful not to dry them in a damp place like a basement. Her gourds tended to get moldy in her cellar.

MRS. AYRES says one must be careful in handling the gourds. A bruise means a dark spot on the new dish rag.

When the long cucumber-like fruits are dry, Mrs. Ayres merely peels off the outer covering and takes the seeds out of the sponge-like fibre on the inside of the gourd.

Mrs. Ayres says these wash cloths are thought to be healthful and are advertised in high class magazines as a method of beauty treatment. She herself thinks there may be something in this idea.

Her granddaughter, now past 30, began using gourd wash cloths when she was six. Her grandmother thinks she has a flawless complexion.

The gourd wash cloths last indefinitely. And Mrs. Ayres keeps her family supplied. She sometimes fancies them up by facing them with terry cloth. For church bazaars she makes mits by shaping the wash cloths to a hand and putting terry cloth on the back. Then one can slip a hand into the mit and really scrub.

For the men she faces the long gourd sponge with terry cloth and sews bone rings on each end. This makes an excellent back washer.

ONE TIME Mrs. Ayres looked at her supply of seeds from dish rag gourds. She had just read where these seeds retailed six for a dollar. She said to herself, "Well I have just about $10,000 worth of dish rag gourd seeds in my possession."

Mrs. Ayres was returning from four months on the Island of Jamaica where she visited her son's family. She was going back to Washington, Ind., in time to raise more dish rag gourds.

Experts Prefer Root Roses

Expert rosarians are agreed that roses on their own roots are superior to budded roses. They are harder and their characteristics are more pronounced if they are own-root plants.

This was surprising, although we have known many gardeners who have successfully planted out the rooted cuttings they raised under a jar.

Rose experts say that a budded rose is actually a parasite growing on the roots of another plant. And of course any vegetation coming from below the bud is wild growth from the roots which often are plain old multiflora.

People who know them say that the color of a rose on its own roots is just a little bit more vivid. The plant is a wee bit harder. Breeding characteristics, a pointed bud for instance, is a little more pronounced than on budded stock.

NURSERIES find it more expedient to bud roses. That is why all commercially grown roses are budded stock.

So get out the old Mason jar and try your hand at rooting some cuttings.

Webster Garden in Prime When Visitors Make Tour

FIRST LADY — Pictured here is Mrs. Henry J. Wichman of Webster Groves, Mo., as she stands in her two level garden. The first level is a rose garden. The second features perennial borders. Mrs. Wichman was one of the organizers of the garden club movement in Webster. And because of her contribution to gardening, she deserves the title of "First Flower Lady in Webster."

It is one thing to have a beautiful garden, but the triumph is indeed complete if you manage to get visitors, 150 of them, to see that garden when it is in its fullest glory.

But that is what happened to Mrs. Henry J. Wichman, 605 S. Elm St., Webster Groves, Mo. The local garden clubs scheduled their tour when Mrs. Wichman's garden was in its prime.

Mrs. Wichman, one of the organizers of the garden club movement in Webster, is a florist. Her hobbies are gardening and cooking. This is fitting because her paternal grandfather, John Doswell, was head gardener for Queen Victoria and her paternal grandmother, head cook for the Queen.

Now John Doswell, who was trained at the famous Kew Gardens in London, eventually came to America and designed parks. It was he who planned and executed the design for Lindenwood Cemetery in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MRS. WICHMAN says he used to regale the grandchildren with stories about his days as gardener for the Queen. But of them all, Mrs. Wichman liked to hear how her grandfather saw an explorer kneel before the Queen and ask that he be allowed to name a waterlily for her. He had brought back a specimen from the then relatively unknown continent of Africa.

The Queen graciously consented. And now wherever waterlilies are grown this one, Victoria Rega, is admired above all others. And it is said that the leaves are so heavy a man can stand on them.

Mrs. Wichman's is a two level garden. On the first level is the rose display. The second garden is approached by steps flanked with holly trees, tall and symmetrical. One may stand at the garden entrance and look past the circular bed of pink polyanthus roses centered with a bird bath to the upper garden where a stone Japanese lantern is surrounded by dwarf red barberry.

Tall shrubs and trees enclose both gardens. The upper level has a grass area around the lantern and barberry. Perennial borders outline this whole garden.

And it was these perennial beds that were in full bloom when the 150 visitors stopped at the Wichmans. Peonies, iris, May Queen daisies and columbine were largely responsible for the color. Later day lilies and shasta daisies will bloom in the borders. And every autumn there are hundreds of chrysanthemums.

The gardens were designed

FRIENDSHIP FLOWERS — Here Mrs. Wichman examines flowers in her friendship garden. These beds are given over to gift flowers which acquaintances present to her. This little garden is bordered with lettuce.

by Mrs. Wichman's late husband. And though on a relatively small scale, there are vistas and a central axis and focal areas where garden ornaments catch the eye.

THE LATE Henry Wichman was a master horticulturist. Although it's almost 40 years since I left Webster, I can still see in my mind's eye his beautiful perennial borders which had no peer in our part of the country. And if I am not mistaken, it was he who introduced the Korean hybrid chrysanthemums to the town.

The flower beds separating the rose garden from the house are known as the friendship gardens. And it is here that Mrs. Wichman plants her gift plants.

The rose garden features Helen Traubel, Show Girl, Charlotte Armstrong, Chrysler Imperial and Peace roses. The Wichmans started out with 200 roses and have made replacements from time to time.

Mrs. Wichman has bordered her rose beds and the friendship garden in vegetables such as lettuce, beets, carrots and onions. A pretty sight it is, too.

We warned her about eating vegetables that are constantly sprayed with poison rose insecticides and fungicides. She laughed and said the roses had not been sprayed for two years. She believed they do just as well as when they were on a rugged and regular spray schedule.

The Wichman Floral Shop has been in existence for 33 years now. Mrs. Wichman has lived in the same block although not the same house for 50 years. Her youngest son is a partner in the shop and has a home near the top level garden.

Weed Spray Killers Often Drift to Yard Next Door

Weed killers are pretty potent poisons.

Broad leaved killers will not harm grass. Grass killers will not harm broad leaved foliage. Generally speaking that is! There are poisons that will kill every living plant.

These are all useful and legitimate. What we must remember is that all are available to the general public. And the general public is not trained in chemical research.

In fact, as tragic incidents prove, the general public is not trained in reading directions. Each poison chemical package has explicit directions for its use.

GEORGE HAMRICK, Pickaway County Extension agent, pointed out recently that in every case where damage or death occurred from pesticides and insecticides, the tragedies were due to misuse of the product. The public must learn to read directions carefully.

Once a spray material is misted into the air, the gardener can't reel it in. It's in the air. And air currents will carry it wherever they go.

Remember air currents do not know where your property stops and your neighbor's starts. And they do not know where road right-of-ways stop.

That's why the highway division had so much trouble with landowners. The highway men never meant to kill precious plant material growing near homes. But that is what happened in countless cases.

Remember your so called weed killer may drift over to your neighbor's and kill a treasured shrub or seedling plants that are new and tender. Once that killing spray is in the air you have no control over it.

If you have close neighbors, just don't use airborne sprays. It's not worth the hard feelings that will be engendered. If you have a tough plant like poison ivy — and poison ivy is hard to kill without doubt — try mixing a chemical with water and dousing the poison ivy with a shower from the sprinkling can.

AND FOR Heaven's sake be sure the sprinkling can is thoroughly cleansed or you'll be killing all the plants in the cold frame the next time you water them.

A good neighbor is to be treasured. Don't let a little weed killer disrupt the friendly atmosphere in your vicinity.

Oriental Arranger Has Simple Way To Carry Posies

Mrs. Frank Cooper, Piketon, known as a judge to many Garden Club flower show exhibitors here in Pickaway County, believes she knows the best and easiest way to transport flower arrangements to an exhibit.

She says she learned it from a Japanese arranger. Mrs. Cooper was amused at the simplicity and efficiency of the method of this Oriental woman.

She had large squares of cloth. Placing the arrangement in the center of the cloth she merely tied the four corners together. She carried the arrangements using the knotted corners as a handle.

Mrs. Cooper says the method seemed to work perfectly.

TOWN AND COUNTRY 4-H CLUB — This group of girls arrived at the Pickaway Fairgrounds several days ago to do their share in a joint project of planting the flower bed in front of the 4-H and Grange Building. Monrovia Garden Club provides the young plants and the 4-H girls set them out. This is the second year the clubs have cooperated on the project. Left to right here are: Margaret Dean, Sheila Linter, Carolyn Clifton, Mary Ward, Evelyn Peart, Jessica Peart, Sharon Mace, Jeanne Cupp, Cris Linter, Mrs. Charles Fleming and Nancy Pickel.

4-H Members, Garden Club Cooperate on Joint Project

Girls of the Town and Country 4-H Club donned gardening clothes several days ago and set out for the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

This energetic group, under the leadership of Mrs. Jesse Peart and Mrs. Leonard Squeo, had planned to do the spade work for the Monrovia garden club whose project it is to plant annuals at the 4-H and Grange Building each year.

Pat Flemming, president of Monrovia, had 114 dozen annuals ready for the 4-H girls to set out. This will be the second year the girls have undertaken to help the garden club project.

When we said "spade work" we meant it literally. The girls actually spaded the long bed in front of the building. According to Mrs. Peart, it was as hard as a rock. But spade they did.

THE CLUB members showed up for work at the Fairgrounds at 9:30 a. m. By 11 a. m. 100 dozen annuals had been planted. These included petunias, marigolds, salvia, asters and verbenas.

All of which goes to show that when 4-H girls put their minds to it they can accomplish a lot of hard work.

There were some pinchhitters in the group. Mrs. Louis Dean substituted for the assistant adviser, Mrs. Squeo.

And two extra girls were there to take the place of three members unable to come for the day of planting.

By fair time the annuals will be in bloom. They should be a colorful sight.

Solaqua Club Sets June 12 As Date for Rose Breakfast

The Solaqua Garden Club extends an invitation to all flower lovers to attend the annual Rose Breakfast June 12 at Prairie Lanes Recreation Center.

The event includes a rose show as well as breakfast. Classes are open to all.

Breakfast will be served beginning at 9:30 a. m. Entries must be in place by 10:30 a. m.

The theme of this popular annual event is "Pageant of Roses". All exhibits must include roses.

In the specimen classes all entries must have been grown by the exhibitor. In the arrangement division, however, plant material need not be grown by the exhibitor but must be garden grown. No greenhouse material will be permitted.

Money awards will be given. Blue ribbon award will be $1.50. Red Ribbon award will be $1.00 and the third place ribbon will be 50 cents. Only ribbons will be given for honorable mention.

No artificial material and no artificially colored material will be allowed in any class except Class 3 in the arrangement division. This is to be an abstract.

Reds Chide U.N. Plan For Asia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voiced strong criticism of a new plan to send a Security Council mission to Cambodia and South Viet Nam to study how to stop border violations.

The two Communist countries declared that the proposed three-nation mission is unnecessary. They also objected to the moderate language of the resolution, presented by Morocco and Ivory Coast, and demanded that it be amended to include the name of the United States in connection with the violations of Cambodia's border.

Czechoslovak delegate Jiri Hajek opened the attack in the 11-nation council and he was quickly followed by Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko. The council postponed the vote until 3 p. m. Thursday at the request of Hajek and Fedorenko.

GOP To Determine Its Future In City Very Proud of Its Past

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party, eager to take charge of the nation's future, shapes up its destiny soon in San Francisco, a city that is a proud prisoner of its past.

This seaport city, which a gold rush spawned and an earthquake couldn't kill, will be the mid-July mecca of 30,000 for the Republican National Convention—delegates, alternates, candidates, boosters, and news-camera, radio and television media.

The question whether the choice is to be Rockefeller or Goldwater or Nixon or Lodge or Scranton or someone else gets answered July 13-16 at the Cow Palace. The site for settling that 1964 issue is on the city's southeast side, seven miles across town from the waterfront, where $2 million is being spent to restore the gas-light, sailing ship era of the 1870s, '80s and '90s at Aquatic Park.

The cavernous 16,000-seat Cow Palace, built in the depression years under the impetus of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and named by a critic of the New Deal, is the last place the Republicans picked a winner—Eisenhower for his second term in 1956.

Finally opened in 1941 as a livestock pavilion, the $11-million, 315,200-square-foot, cream-colored structure since has crammed in crowds at the rate of more than 1 million a year for:

The swelling hymns of a Billy Graham crusade; the thud of boxing gloves; the groan of wrestlers; the swish of ice hockey skates; and the appearance of the late John F. Kennedy.

Its name dates from the depression years. Families were being evicted from homes, and a critic scoffed that was no time to be building "a palace for cows." The name stuck, was formally adopted.

In July, the Cow Palace becomes a window for the world. On a desk in the fifth floor Suite K at the St. Francis Hotel, offices of the GOP arrangements committee, is a bulging stack of white cards listing who is coming, to view and to report.

The Soviet Union is sending writers for Pravda, Izvestia and Tass. Moscow radio will be represented. Also Poland's news agency, and Hungary's radio and television. Most of London's newspapers. Likewise Tokyo's. Writers from India, Australia, Spain, Sweden, West Germany —to name a few of the more than 65 foreign media.

More than 150 United States newspapers will send staffs to fill most of the 952 working press seats on the convention floor. They, along with news association corps, will keep busy 325 teletypewriter lines and many of the 3,000 telephones.

At the moment, inside the pillarless, postless arena, hammers are banging and drills whirring at work on 100-foot-long anchor booths being built over northside seats.

These 20-foot-deep stages—part of $4-million in Cow Palace work related to the convention—will allow television cameras of the major U.S. networks to sweep over the crowd.

Plans call for more than 100 video channels, 264 radio circuits, 45 channels of telegraph equipment, a hookup of more than 36,000 miles of communication wires.

This center of activity is a 67-acre area in Visitation Valley almost within earshot of Willie Mays' bat meeting the ball at Candlestick Park, eastward beside the bay. Baseball's National League Giants are among additions to the San Francisco pattern since the 1956 GOP convention.

Some San Franciscans look upon that as a symbol—that the city has gone "big league." Actually it hasn't, can't, and wouldn't. San Francisco, as newcomers at the convention will quickly see, is a happy prisoner of geography and tradition.

Its 750,000 people of all races—three of every 10 either were born outside the United States or have one parent of foreign stock—are squeezed into the tip of a 32-mile-long peninsula. The population density is nearly 16,000 to a square mile.

That doesn't count more than 125,000 who commute back and forth over the bridges, freeways and rail lines to work.

Convention visitors who have been to San Francisco before will note a few changes. The Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill now has a rooftop drinking spot a little higher than its neighboring rival Top of the Mark.

Conrad Hilton has added a hotel of 1,200 rooms to the more than 25,000 in the city's 500 hotels and 65 motels.

But the crabs are still boiled alive in water vats down at Fisherman's Wharf as they have been for half a century. In narrow Grant Avenue, heart of 116-year-old Chinatown, merchants peddle oriental wares that in many instances are embarrasssingly stamped "Made in Japan."

One change in the life pattern has jolted San Franciscans. In a melting pot of 55,000 of Italian extraction, 50,000 Chinese, 10,000 Japanese and a host of other nationalities, Negro groups have staged demonstrations in support of demands for more jobs.

These have resulted in mass arrests; cost the city an estimated million dollars; clogged the municipal courts; and caused more discussion of the civil rights issue—an inevitable big plank in the GOP platform—than many a San Franciscan ever dreamed necessary.

Down at the Cow Palace, its management is taking the convention in stride. While telephone technicians fidget over delays in getting to their work, a wrestling match—which often draws bigger crowds than political conventions—will be staged June 27.

And in August, soon after the convention paraphernalia is carted away, there'll be a different type of crowd—catcher: from London—the Beatles.

Tassler Paces Bingman Win Over Purina

Last night in the Little League majors it was Bingman's Paul Tassler who stole the show as the Drugmen beat Purina, 8-3.

Tassler started for the winners but departed in the fourth inning after allowing no runs, no hits and fanning 10 batters.

Rickey Blankenship took the mound and finished the game for the winners. He allowed three runs, walked two, gave up seven hits and struck out four.

Bingman's 12 - hit attack was led by Tassler, and Jim Butts. Butts blasted a homerun, triple and double in three at-bats. Tassler had three doubles. Rickey Jacobs and Blankenship both hit two-baggers.

ROD KASLER hurled for the Purina nine. He fired a complete game, whiffing eight and allowing 12 hits.

Ray Bass banged a double for the losers. Terry Leasure and Jerry Schlechter both had two singles.

Fullmer Dropped From Ring Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — One former middleweight champion was dropped from the rankings and another was restored in Ring Magazine's boxing ratings for June.

Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, was taken off the list by Nat Fleischer, Ring's editor, because he apparently has retired. Terry Downes of Britain got back on the list in the lightweight division as No. 10 contender.

Jerry Marion, 175-pound sophomore from Bakersfield, Calif., paced Wyoming's hitters this spring with a .391 average. He also led in home runs with five and in stolen bases with 20. He played 42 games.

3 Cincinnati's Face Electric Chair Penalty

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three greater Cincinnati area men face death in the electric chair as the result of the robbery of an elderly widow who died two weeks after the bandits beat her.

Mrs. Emma Austing, 76, was robbed of $2,500 on May 5, 1963, at her home in rural Hamilton County. A farmhand found her the next day.

The three men—Elmer Glen Miller, 47, Lester E. Swiger, 28, and Curtis Bellamy, 20, were convicted of first degree murder in separate trials. None of the juries recommended mercy.

Common Pleas Judge Louis J. Schneider overruled a motion for a new trial of Miller Wednesday and sentenced him to die in the electric chair Sept. 18.

The league championships are scheduled July 27 and 28.

Kiwanis Rips Logan Elm

Joe Winner, garnering two homeruns, a triple and two doubles, along with nine runs batted in, paced once victorious Kiwanis yesterday to an easy 26-9 win over Logan Elm in the Babe Ruth Majors.

Dale Jenne fired for Kiwanis and was benefactor of the 21 hit Kiwanian offensive. He fanned seven and gave up nine hits in his route-going performance.

Besides Winner's hard hitting outburst, Steve Dade cracked three doubles good for six RBIs. Ronnie Bryant, Glen Cassill and Jack Varble poled three-baggers for the winners.

Buddy McAfee started for the losing nine. He fanned two and allowed 10 hits before he was taken from the box. Larry Stant came on and allowed six hits. He was replaced by Tom Smith, who finished. Smith permitted seven hits.

Smith and Allen Gabriel poled doubles for Logan Elm. Jeff Randall and Mack Shaw each carded two singles.

Atlanta Rookie Shuts Out Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If turning in a first for a last place team means anything, Atlanta's rookie pitcher Gordon Seyfried should ask for a raise.

Seyfried, who had a 0-2 record and a blushing 7.54 earned run average going into Wednesday night's International League game with Columbus, pitched the Crackers to a 5-0 victory. It marked the first time this season, Atlanta has shut out anybody.

In other action, Buffalo defeated Toronto 3-2 and Jacksonville took a doubleheader from Richmond 6-3 and 10-7, with the second game going 11 innings. Rochester and Syracuse were rained out.

Trina Lee Wins At Scioto Downs

Jim Arledge of Circleville reined Trina Lee to a win in the sixth race last night at Scioto Downs.

Trina Lee, owned by Wayne Martin of Circleville, paced the mile in 2:05.1.

Nicklaus-Palmer Moans Tag Them as Favorites

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington D. C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of only five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

The other two with a pair of victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Nicklaus, the longest driver in the game, says his approach shots and putting are pretty good. "But I can't drive at all," He then proceeded to bang out several beautiful drives in the pro-am before rain washed out play Wednesday.

Palmer hadn't played since the Memphis Open two weeks ago.

"When I lay off two days I feel like I've been off two weeks, and I've only played a couple of times since Memphis," Palmer said. "I'm real rusty."

18-Year-Old Star Signed by Detroit

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Small, 18, left-handed pitching star from St. Anthony High School, signed Wednesday with the Detroit Tigers for what a club official called a "very substantial" bonus.

The Tigers had scouted Small for three years, and 14 other major league baseball clubs had made offers for the 6-foot-4, 200-pound pitcher.

Small reports Thursday to Detroit's Lakeland Farm Club in the Class A Florida State League.

At St. Anthony this year he had a 6-4 record, an earned run average of 1.50 and a batting average of .571 and pitched a no-hitter.

Whitey Ford Gets Shutout

Veteran Southpaw Sets Pace in AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Whitey Ford, said teammate Ralph Terry, wins because "he's got it in three places—here, here and here."

And Terry pointed to his head, his arm and his heart.

The trio allowed Minnesota only four hits Wednesday night, Ford keeping tight rein on the controls as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 3-0 victory and took over the American League lead in shutouts and earned-run average.

Making his 12th start, the 35-year-old left-hander brought his record to 6-1 with his fourth shutout and lowered his ERA to a sparkling 1.53. Ford also is tied for the No. 1 spot in strikeouts with Boston's Dick Radatz. Both have 68.

How does Ford, who had a 24-7 record last year, do it time after time?

Terry says it's the head-arm-heart triple play. He elaborates:

"He's got a reason for every pitch. That's something you can say for very few pitchers, but you can say it about Whitey because he thinks out there on the mound. He can set up a hitter beautifully because he's got everything to do the job."

With all that, Ford still was touched for four hits.

Robin Roberts allowed six but rode a four-homer salvo to his fourth victory as the first-place Baltimore Orioles defeated Kansas City 5-1 for their sixth consecutive victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Joel Horlen permitted only three hits but needed ninth inning relief help before the Chicago White Sox subdued Cleveland 3-0. Washington belted Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels swept a doubleheader from Boston 2-0 and 9-8.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings. San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0. St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 7-5 and Milwaukee nipped Cincinnati 3-2. The Houston at New York game was rained out.

Dancer Heads for Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—Northern Dancer heads into Saturday's 96th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes with his peak form still to come.

That's the opinion of Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and at least one trainer of the four 3-year-olds expected to oppose the son of Nearctic-Natalma in the 1½-mile final leg of the Triple Crown.

"I actually don't know his capabilities," said Luro today. "He's done everything we have asked of him so well that I would hesitate to guess just how far he'll go."

"He probably hasn't reached his peak," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Orientalist, who was made a supplementary entry at the cost of $5,000. "He has held his bloom so well. In fact he seems to look better every time I see him."

All of which could be bad news for the Dancer's rivals in what stacks up as the smallest Belmont field since Count Fleet beat two others by 25 lengths in 1943.

Northern Dancer, from E. P.

Taylor's Windfields Farm, has won his last seven starts, never been out of the money in 17 races, set a Kentucky Derby mark of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles and came close to the Preakness standard with a 1:56 4-5 clocking for 13-16 miles.

After being the second choice to Hill Rise in both the Derby and Preakness, the Dancer is expected to go to the post at the short odds of around 3-5.

Hill Rise, from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, loser by a neck in the Derby and by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness, figures to get the bulk of the remainder of the play in the betting machines.

Post time is 3:45 p.m. EST, with nationwide television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Louis Wolfson's Roman Brother, who like Northern Dancer was foaled on May 27; Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and John Galbreath's Orientalist are the other definite starters.

Roman Brother and Quadrangle had a crack at Northern Dancer in the Derby and Preakness but finished up the track. Since then Roman Brother has won the Jersey Derby and Quadrangle ran second to Olden Times in the Metropolitan Handicap.

There is an outside possibility that Herbert Allen might decide today to enter Shook, winner of three of his six starts this year. R. N. Webster's National, out of the money only twice in eight 1964 starts, also is a possibility.

Top Golfers Reveal Urge 'To Be Best'

NEW YORK (AP)—How does a tournament golfer stay hungry after he's banked a million dollars?

Nothing to it, insists the Big Three of the pro circuit—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player. You just have to want to be the best.

"I haven't begun to win what I want to accomplish in this game," said Palmer, the leading money winner of all time and a millionaire a couple of times over.

"When I get satisfied with what I've got and can't get charged up for a tournament any more, I'll quit," said Nicklaus who at 24 already has won all of America's major championships and appears to be just beginning.

"I never think about money, or the size of the purse," added Player, the golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg. "I have one thing only in mind—I want to be the best."

It is this fierce competition and burning ambition to outdo each other that has seared any possible complacency in the three fairway capitalists.

The subject of finances and the possible effect on the players' continued desire came up today after the trio announced a new business venture.

They're no longer just satisfied with collecting money. They're going to start printing it.

They announced that they were joining a New York bank note company (Security Columbian), which specializes in printing bonds and making foreign currency.

Bill Talbert, former Davis Cup tennis captain and firm vice president who conceived the idea of adding these barnstorming golfers to his staff, explained their role this way:

"They will be largely contact men. They play all over the world. They play with the most prominent people. In the course of their activities, they might mention the merits of the company. It could be very lucrative."

Mark McCormack, a young Cleveland attorney who handles the business affairs of all three, said he didn't expect the added responsibilities to dull the players' games or drive.

When the Los Angeles Rams meet the Minnesota Vikings on the latter's field on Nov. 29 it will be the 3,000th National Football League game.

SCIO TO WINNER — Little Lad, owned by Mrs. Frank Bowling of Circleville, moved into the winner's circle Tuesday night at Scioto Downs, taking the sixth race in 2:10.1. Stabled at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, the 4-year-old trotter is trained by Ralph Jones.

Call Issued for Red Cross Swimming Instructors Here

Jack Strapp, director of the Circleville Red Cross Swimming program this summer, is calling a meeting 1 p.m. Friday at the Circleville Swim Club for all persons interested in serving as instructors.

Strapp, who emphasized the need for adult instructors, said interested persons may contact either himself or Jack Weikert at the local pool.

"The Red Cross feels the best defense against an individual drowning is to know how to swim," Strapp said.

"Virtually all these drowning accidents can be avoided," he points out, noting that one good way to avoid becoming a 1964 drowning victim is to follow the "Ten Red Cross rules to water safety." They are:

1 — Learn to swim. If you can swim, learn to swim better. 2 —

Always swim with a buddy, never alone. 3 — Swim where there are lifeguards on duty.

4 — Recognize your limitations.

Your endurance is not as great now as it will be after a summer in the water. 5 — Don't depend on inflated tires, tubes, and other flotation devices to keep you safe if you can't swim. 6 — For distance swimming in open water, take along a companion in a boat.

7 — Don't swim immediately after eating, when overtired, or when overheated. 8 — Stay away from under diving boards when you are in the water. 9 — Stay out of water during electrical storms. 10 — Before diving, check to see if water is deep enough and make sure it contains no hidden objects.

Through its network of chapters reaching across the United States, the Red Cross this summer will again conduct literally thousands of swimming classes to add to the already impressive roster of more than 25 million persons who have obtained free Red Cross certified training in swimming, lifesaving, and boating safety.

Braves Clip Redlegs with 3-2 Verdict

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds' inability to get a run—or even a hit—when needed Wednesday night cost them a 3-2 defeat at the hands of the Milwaukee Braves.

After Denis Menke broke a 2-2 tie with his fifth home run in the seventh inning, none of the Reds reached first base.

None of them even hit the ball out of the infield as Denny Lemaster, now 7-2, retired them one-two-three.

The Braves scored in the first inning when Jim Maloney (3-6) let go with a wild pitch after giving up singles to Lee Maye and Eddie Mathews. The Reds got that one back in the second and went ahead in the sixth when Vada Pinson hit his fifth home run of the season. Maye tied the score again with his No. 4 home run later that same inning.

Leo Cardenas scored the Reds' second-inning run after he reached base on a fielder's choice. He advanced on John Edwards' single and crossed the plate as Steve Boros singled to left.

Maloney gave up five hits to Lemaster's six, but the Milwaukee lefthander made up for this by striking out 10 Reds. Maloney was credited with only four strikeouts in the 6-2-3 innings before he was replaced by Bill Henry.

The two teams wind up their series tonight with Jim O'Toole (3-2) scheduled to start for the Reds. His probable opponent will be Tony Clonger (3-5).

His Collection Remains Safe

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP)—Marvin Jones, co-owner of a Buffalo bar, has a valuable collection of silver dollars — a complete set of every cartwheel minted, except for an 1895 dollar.

He values it at more than $5,000.

Jones kept the collection in the safe at his bar, but the recent publicity over the silver dollar shortage prompted him to take his collection home for examination one weekend.

A couple nights later, burglars broke into the tavern, wheeled away the safe and fled with $400 in cash and $400 to $500 in checks. Jones' silver dollar collection was safe at home.

Civil Rights Given Priority By Governors

CLEVELAND (AP) — Civil rights has been assigned a priority spot on the agenda of the 56th annual Governors Conference opening here Saturday.

Governors of 50 states and American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands have been divided into three troupes of 17 each to tackle separate aspects of the problems in concurrent two-hour sessions Tuesday morning.

An hour-long full session will follow with reports from chairmen of the three meetings — Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey on education; Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana on employment and Gov. John A. Love of Colorado on public accommodations and housing.

Whether debate will lead to any civil rights resolutions by the governors is uncertain. At last year's meeting in Miami Beach, a rule was made that a three-fourths vote is needed to bring a resolution before the delegates. And southern governors balked at civil rights resolutions.

The executive committee of the conference has prepared a background report on the subject of civil rights for distribution to governors. The report makes no recommendations, but summarizes a survey of what the states are doing on civil rights and is of non-controversial nature.

All the governors' conference sessions will be held at the Sheraton Cleveland Hotel on Public Square, and there appeared a strong possibility there would be demonstrations by local civil rights groups.

The executive secretary of the Cleveland congress of Racial Equality, Miss Ruth Turner, said that there would be no advance announcement to alert police should a demonstration be held at the governor's conference.

Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, arriving here Wednesday to complete arrangements as host, commented:

"We have no objection to anyone expressing their views on any subject. What any organization chooses to do is its own business."

There will be strong security measures, and special contingents of Cleveland police will be augmented by state highway patrolmen—who will chauffeur visiting governors' cars — and by FBI agents.

In a news conference Wednesday, Rhodes refused to comment on the California primary election result. He is the favorite son of Ohio's Republican
